-attending to the construction of our brick-furnace. From his very appearance it looked plain, that he was feeling somewhat exhausted and could only with difficulty manage to exchange a few words with me. He was waiting there, for so long, he said and felt rather tired. He did not at first realise he said that it would take me so long to return to him. I could clearly see that he was eagerly seeking for an opportunity, to hear from me all that I had seen and heard, regarding the supernatural, in his absence; but not with any very great amount of success, I may say. It so happened at this juncture that we both felt quite tongue-tied as to making any mention of what had taken place. He actuallv tried to ask me once or twice, but had to give up the idea, knowing that it would not do,; so that we had to part, taking leave of each other; he having left for his station head-quarters, and I for my work.
The exhaustion that our doctor felt, seems to me to have been due to his having spent some <of his powers, in giving his Omnipresent double the incentive to appear in material form, ^
